THE HOLY SEE AND THE EMERGENCE OF THE MODERN MIDDLE EAST: BENEDICT XV S DIPLOMACY IN GREATER SYRIA (1914-1922) (HARDBACK)

The Catholic University of America Press, United States, 2016. Hardback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. The Vatican and the Emergence of the Modern Middle East examines the originality of Pope Benedict XV s diplomacy (1914-1922) during the First World War and the immediate post-war period in the modern Middle East emerging after the fall of the Ottoman Empire. A thorough exploration of the pontiff s statecraft regarding Syria, Lebanon, and Palestine serves as the case study and emphasizes Pope Benedict s participation in preparing the Catholic Church for an active role in the new world order. Benedict XV was a far-sighted geopolitical master whose diplomatic vision went beyond local circumstances so as to equip the Church for future protection of Catholic interests and communities worldwide. Pope Benedict anticipated the geopolitical revolution that would take place in the wake of the Great War and discerned the first tremors that would initiate the decolonization movement and the self-determination of national minorities. This implemented a supple diplomacy that would adjust to any political environment as long as the independence of the Holy See and the protection of Catholic interests would be guaranteed. This far-seeing diplomacy had repercussions at the regional and international level that lasted long after his death. The recent celebration of the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of World War One, which coincides with the 100th anniversary of the beginning of Benedict s reign makes this book timely and relevant given the current, and not to abate soon, events in the Middle East. It draws attention to an underappreciated pontificate and remedies the absence of detailed and...
