When Jesus had yielded up his spirit, the veil of the Temple was rent in twain from top to bottom, the earth quaked, rocks were riven, graves opened, and many of the dead rose out of them and appeared to their families and friends. n The centurion and all those who were with him watching near the cross, overwhelmed with fear at the awful events which attended the death of Jesus, exclaimed: Truly this was the Son of God! The people, too, who had been present at the crucifixion, smote their breasts, and returned home filled with consternation. That the bodies might not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath-day, which would have been contrary to the law of Moses, the soldiers, with the governors permission, broke the legs of...
